Accutest Laboratories to Partner with Bolder Capital, LLC

Dayton, NJ – Accutest Corporation, the third largest operator of environmental testing laboratories in the U.S., has announced that it has accepted a substantial investment from Bolder Capital, LLC, establishing a partnership to create the premier platform in the industry. Accutest is a rapidly growing, environmental testing provider focused on quality, customer service and superior electronic data deliverables.

Accutest President and CEO Vincent J Pugliese commented, “We are excited to be partnering with Bolder who shares our vision for customer service and geographic expansion. Together, we will be able to bring our exceptional services to a broader client base. There will be no change in our management team moving forward.”

“We are excited to have the opportunity to partner with Accutest’s outstanding management team and believe that Accutest is positioned to be the true leader in the environmental testing industry,” said Todd Hamilton, Managing Director of Bolder Capital. “The company’s outstanding reputation, superior information management systems and growth strategy ensures a successful future for the company.”

Greg Jones, Managing Director of Bolder Capital, commented, “With its leading edge technology and commitment to customer service, we believe that Accutest has the unique opportunity to enhance and further develop the environmental testing industry.”

CEO Pugliese added, “Bolder’s resources and strategic value will allow us to achieve our long-term growth plans. We are at a point of considerable opportunity in our industry.”
